Greetings!

If you're a supervisor or administrator seeking a valuable way to assist your mail services manager and their team, we invite you to join one of the top organizations in the Mail Service industry. In 2023, we proudly celebrated our 25th anniversary. ARMCUMS is dedicated to enhancing College and University Mail Services by offering education and support to our members. We focus on improving processes, exploring innovative revenue streams, and cutting costs within the mailing industry at our member institutions.

We connect with individuals working in mail services, printing services, and related departments at colleges and universities. Additionally, we collaborate with and endorse our national organization, NACUMS (National Association of Colleges and University Mail Services). Our goal is to keep you informed about the latest technology, services, and advancements in the dynamic and constantly evolving field of mail services.

By engaging in our structured events, ARMCUMS serves as a valuable educational asset. Beyond these advantages, membership includes a certificate, conference discounts, and reduced rates for NACUMS membership. Annually, we host a conference within our region where attendees can participate in workshops covering various industry challenges. They can also interact with leaders from USPS, Amazon, UPS, FedEx, DHL, and other key figures who offer valuable insights into university and college management practices. Additionally, participants have the opportunity to network, exchange ideas, and discover innovative business methods and best practices, enhancing their professional toolkit.

This year, our annual conference will take place in the picturesque city of Prescott, Arizona. Hosted at The Prescott Resort, the event will span from October 13 to October 18, 2024. Furthermore, we're excited to provide guided tours of both the Northern Arizona University (NAU) postal operation and the Grand Canyon. During the conference, knowledgeable exhibitors will be present to showcase cutting-edge technology and resources aimed at enhancing the efficiency of your operation.

This year's conference presents a fantastic opportunity to connect with our members and elevate your school's role within the campus community. We invite you to contribute to our collective success by encouraging your staff to join ARMCUMS today! By becoming a member, you can actively contribute to our industry through participation, learning, and knowledge sharing. Whether you're a new member or renewing your membership, all the necessary information can be found under the Join/Renew tab on our website at <https://www.armcums.org/>.

We encourage you to explore all the benefits we offer and hopefully discover meaningful ways to support your Mail Services team. We eagerly anticipate your attendance with your team at the October 2024 conference in Prescott, Arizona.
